Congressman Robb, we are pleased to note, is rapidly recovering from the effects of a protracted spell of sickness.

The Reynolds County Outlook entered upon its 26th year before last. The Shivers are making a good paper of the Outlook, a credit to their county, and we wish them continued success.

Twenty-five cents on the hundred dollars' valuation of property is all the tax Democratic Missouri expects of the people. After the school fund amendment to the Constitution is adopted, this small tax will be cut down to about 17 cents on the hundred.

Judge Shiras of the United States Supreme Court says incorporation of all labor unions is the primary step towards the passage of an arbitration law; that until the unions are responsible for the carrying out of an agreement there is but little hope of compulsory arbitration of labor troubles.

Hot Springs, Ark., wants the Government to establish a National Hospital there for the crowded and unfortunate, without means and in wretched physical condition, who go there to secure the benefit of the waters. The Government owns the land and the healing waters, and the cost would be comparatively small.

It is said that the operating employees of every railroad system in the United States are planning the greatest movement in the history of these organizations, with a view of demanding an increase in wages. Back of this movement it is estimated that there will be 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 workmen. If this movement should materialize, and the railroads should resist its demand, there will probably be one of the greatest strikes this country has ever witnessed.

Since the retirement of Justice Gray from the United States Supreme Court, and the probable early retirement of Justice Shiras, the question has been raised which of these jurists by reversing himself made the Supreme Court declare the income tax unconstitutional by a single vote. Justice Shiras has generally been accused and censured for this act, but it appears that it may have been Justice Gray. Of course the secret deliberations of the Court are never given out, and as to which of the Justices reversed himself is a matter of speculation largely.

"The unexpectedly large treasury surplus for August is due to the productiveness of the Dingley law. Tariff tinkers think they can improve the present tariff, but the practical business sense of the country will be slow to believe them," remarks the Globe-Democrat. But how much better it would be for the people if this unnecessary surplus were permitted to remain in the people's pockets instead of being taxed out of them in the interest of the trusts and other big tariff-protected manufacturers. The Dingley law is sure a surplus-getter and bleeds the people unmercifully.

The News says that "No amount of palaver will disguise the grim truth that no business house would offer one cent for the entire batch of State school fund certificates, amounting to several millions of dollars." Certainly not, for these certificates are non-transferable and non-negotiable, and such a transaction would show fraud on its face. If our Republican friends should accidentally come into power again in this State, they could not make a misuse of the school funds, safely secured in these certificates, as they did back in the 'twenties. The first $900,000 school fund certificate was authorized by a Democratic Legislature in order to restore the school funds misappropriated by Republican administrators when they were running things in this State.

The Globe-Democrat labors hard to create the impression that the school fund certificates are not a bonded debt of the State under the Constitution; therefore that when the outstanding negotiable bonds of the State are paid off, no tax levy can constitutionally be made to pay the interest on these certificates, and that the schools will derive no benefit from them. This is the merest sophistry. Two of the Republican candidates for Judges of the Supreme Court voted for and hold that these certificates are a constitutional debt, and if elected they would so hold if the question were ever to come before the Supreme Court. They are non-negotiable bonds, standing in the place of State bonds in which the funds were invested and were cancelled when the transfer was made. If the constitutional amendment to continue the certificates is not adopted they will have to be paid off, just as the bonds for which they stand would have had to be paid off, and the money otherwise invested. It would take several years to pay them off, and the people would have to go on paying a 10 cents interest tax on the $100 valuation until that was accomplished. If the amendment is passed this tax will be reduced to less than three cents on the $100 valuation, and the State will continue to carry the certificates.

Municipal ownership of public utilities is one of the good things favored by the Democratic platform of the Missouri organization, leaving to the people of each municipality to determine such ownership. Another is the initiative and referendum or direct legislation, which pledges the party candidates for office to use their votes, influence and all proper means to secure the submission of a constitutional amendment providing for the practical application of the principle of direct legislation through the initiative and referendum. This would do much to defeat corrupt lobby methods.

Congressman W. S. Cowherd has an appointment to speak in Farmington on Thursday, September 18th. Mr. Cowherd is an entertaining speaker and it is hoped that a large crowd will come out to hear him.

THAT "STOLEN MONEY."

Republican Leaders Failed to Make a Case Against Democracy.

From The St. Louis Mirror (Independent).
The Republicans are saying that this State has lost $11,000,000 somehow under Democratic rule. The charge looks big, but unfortunately for the Republicans, they can't say where, when or how the money was lost or misappropriated. They cannot trace the disappearance to any one administration. They do not agree as to the exact amount missing and they do not agree as to the way in which the money was diverted.

The State authorities have published the report of experts in finance, who say they examined the books and found nothing wrong. Those experts are in the business of examining accounts. If they couldn't find a deficit of $11,000,000, then they don't know their business. If they were paid not to find the deficit they would never dare ask for any other business as accountants. They are men of exalted standing.

The other men who claim to have found deficits, invariable to the experts, are all amateurs, and no two of them agree that the money alleged to be lost was misappropriated or deflected from its proper purpose, in any specified way, at any specified time, or in the administration of any special official.

We have always been told that "keeping is an exact science." If it is, why does not some Republican say just who took the money and misappropriated it? If the treasury has been looted, we should know just how it was done. If the books have been "doctored" the doctored should show. But the louder the Republicans cry about the deficit, the less information they give about it. The Democrats deny that there is a dollar missing. They produce the reports of the experts to that effect. They point to the fact that the books have been examined time and again by Republican auditing committees that would have gladly declared any irregularities.

The Republicans do not make their case. Their charges are scattering. Their specifications are vague. Their experts do not agree. Their shrieking is not convincing to the layman, and even the wisest of accountants, who would naturally be interested in such an issue as has been raised about the State's bookkeeping, cannot tell what the Republican amateur experts are trying to prove by their letters and tables of figures.

The Mirror is of opinion that the Republican charges against the Democrats are so vague that the people do not understand them. There is a cry of theft but no proof, that any one can readily understand, that a theft has been committed. There was a time when the cry seemed to be dangerous to Democracy, but now the Republicans have claimed so much and in so many different ways and dangled so desperately with technicalities that no one can tell exactly what they say has been stolen. The voter is simply confused. The demonstrations of dishonesty, in Republican papers, are bewildering to such a degree that they are strongly suspected of premeditated manipulation. The how about stolen money is loud enough, but the people have not yet been shown how much was stolen, and by whom it was stolen, and until they are shown, they will not vote to turn out the Democrats, and elect a clerk framed by lobbyists, and elect a group of crooked politicians. Missouri will stay Democratic for some time to come.

LABOR DAY AT ELVINS

Observed by the Labor Union—Speech by District Labor Organizer and Candidates.

Last Monday was National Labor Day, and the occasion was observed at Elvins by the several labor unions of the Lead District. There was a large crowd present, everything was orderly and well conducted, and the celebration proved a financial success. All the County Democratic candidates and nearly all the Republican candidates were on hand, and some of them were called upon and addressed the large gathering. The first speaker was the District Labor Organizer from Mine La Motte.

He advised laboring men, irrespective of politics, to vote for the party and men whom they believed would do the most for them collectively and individually. He denounced trust and combines, and said he used to be a strong partisan, but broke away from party alliances for the reason that the party to which he belonged always professed in platform and on the stump to be the friend of labor, but when its covered intentions were crystallized into laws, it was found that they oppressed labor and held the tyrant's heel on the poor man. He closed with an eloquent peroration on the flag, exclaiming, "Long may it wave over the land of plenty and the home of honest labor."

Hon. John L. Bradley, Democratic candidate for State Senator, was next called upon and responded with a timely speech defining his position on the labor question, and at the close of his remarks he was given a hearty ovation, irrespective of politics.

Dr. Jones, the Republican candidate for State Senator, was then called for, and made a short speech without reference to politics—just a short introductory speech.

Mr. Joe Dunkin, Democratic candidate for Representative, followed with a neat speech in which he pledged himself to support all measures that might come before the House that would conduce to the interest and welfare of labor.

Mr. Ben H. Marbury, candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, was then called upon, and started off by saying that since the fall of Adam every man has had to earn his bread by the sweat of his face, and as all the various classes of men were organizing in the interest of mutual protection, he thought it nothing but right that the laborers of St. Francois County should also organize as in union, their strength. He pledged himself, if elected, to enforce the laws, but said he could only do so successfully when his hands were upheld by the citizens of the County.

Mr. Barton Boyer, the Republican candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, was the last speaker. He appealed to them on the ground that he and his father were both miners, that he was a self-made man and had worked his way up. He attacked the Democratic county administration for not apprehending the Delevys, and said that if he were elected he would see that no criminal went unpunished of justice—that he would see that he was arrested, etc.

21 Years a Dyspeptic.

R. H. Foster, 218 S. 2d St., Salt Lake City, writes: "I have been bothered with dyspepsia or indigestion for 21 years; tried many doctors without relief. I got a bottle of Herber's Little Cures, and I am now tapering off on the second. I have recommended it to my friends; it is curing them, too." See City Drug Store.

Southeast News.

A Washington county cow and calf sold last week for $550.

Charleston is to have two circuses during this month, one on the 8th and the other on the 16th.

Caruthersville is to have the finest hotel in Southeast Missouri, and it is to be called "The Wilson."

At the Catholic festival at New Hamburg, Scott county, last week, the gross receipts were $1,933.

The Piedmont Banner complains of the dirty alley ways in that town, which it pronounces a menace to the public health.

Mrs. Thomas Butler of Advance gave birth to four babies at one time last week. They were two boys and two girls, but they lived only one hour.

A correspondent of the Ironton Register says that everybody was well pleased with the Lobbs garden seed, and express a hope that Mr. Robb will be continued in Congress indefinitely, so that the gift of seeds will continue.

The Kennett Democrat says that fifty houses could be rented at once in that town. A contractor down there says he can build a two-room house for $125 and a four-room house for $250, and such houses rent for $5 and $6 a month.

Wishing Us Success.

THE FARMINGTON TIMES AND HERALD have consolidated with Editor Fisher in the creation of the Plant. Success to him.—Fredericktown Tyburn.

THE FARMINGTON TIMES AND HERALD have consolidated with The Herald, at Farmington, was a wise move, and the selection of Theodore D. Fisher as editor and manager of the consolidation was also a wise thing. Mr. Fisher is a safe, sensible man, one who is as often right as any editor, and if he is given the proper encouragement, the result of his labors will be noticeable.—Kennett Democrat.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Endorses Plan to Reproduce City of Jerusalem at World's Fair.

The State Sunday School Convention at Springfield last week was attended by about 400 workers, and the reports showed a healthy condition throughout the State. An increase of 350 in the number of schools was shown, the number in the State last year being 6,452 and this year 6,802. The number of officers and teachers has grown from 52,745 to 91,708, a gain of 5,922, and the number of scholars from 449,537 to 498,644, a gain of 49,107.

The following resolutions endorsing the reproduction of the City of Jerusalem at the St. Louis World's Fair were adopted:

"Whereas, We have learned with pleasure of the plan to reproduce the City of Jerusalem at the World's Fair at St. Louis; and

"Whereas, We firmly believe that such an exhibit will be of inestimable value to Sunday-school workers and Bible students because of its educational features; and

"Whereas, We feel that such an exhibit will leave a beneficial effect upon the Fair itself by counteracting some extent influences of the 'Midway' sort; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Missouri Sunday-School Association, in convention assembled, do hereby commend the plan to reproduce the city of Jerusalem at the World's Fair in St. Louis in 1904."

The proposed exhibit to be made by the Sunday schools of the United States will cover a consignment of ten acres, the contour of the famous city will be faithfully reproduced. The buildings will be those of especial interest to Bible students, such as the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the Temple, Solomon's Obelisk, the Golden Gate, the Mount of Olives, the Garden of Gethsemane, etc.

At least 500 natives will be brought over, representing all phases of citizenship, and it is proposed that the entire city shall be surrounded by the wall of Jerusalem as it is today. Great interest is being taken in the enterprise by the Sunday-school workers.

Out in Denver.

Our friend J. A. Parker of Elva River is out in Denver sight seeing and recreating, and he writes us as follows under date of August 16th.

A few lines in your paper about the great town of Denver would probably interest some of your readers. I find it one among the most places I have ever seen. Everybody seems busy and on the move—by cars, automobiles, bicycles and foot. You can see hundreds at one glance passing—men, women and children, from eight to seventy years. One finds manufactures of all kinds of machinery from a wheelbarrow to a locomotive engine, and small mills upon the mountain sides and in the gulches. The mountains look as if the speaker and the kingfisher must be numerous, for the mountains are full of little holes on the sides, and the men with their heads stuck out look something like the little prairie dogs one finds on the way through Kansas and Colorado.

Market produce, which is brought in every morning to the Union market, is handled by Italians, and everything goes to show that they are splendid gardeners. The town has a lot of fine churches, school buildings and business blocks. The scenery is beautiful, with its snow-capped mountains, and while it is quite warm down in the valley it almost makes one's teeth chatter to see the snow in the mountains in August.
